

Wearable Slides

Wearable Slides is an art assignment in reappropriating. Students are given no restrictions behind the goal of repurposing old art history projector slides into something that is wearable. This project also encourages students to think of art into expanded categories such as fashion design.

Students then pair up and have a “fashion photoshoot” to model their wearables. This furthers personal voice and bravery.

